

Speakers

Margrit von Braun, TerraGraphics International Foundation and University of Idaho

Massimo Crespi, Collegium Ramazzini, Bologna

Pietro Comba, Istituto Superiore di Sanità, Rome

Susanna Conti, Istituto Superiore di Sanità, Rome

Ivano Iavarone, Istituto Superiore di Sanità, Rome and WHO Collaborating Centre for Environmental Health in Contaminated Sites

Phil Landrigan, Mount Sinai School of Medicine, New York

Ian von Lindern, TerraGraphics International Foundation

Marco Martuzzi, WHO European Centre for Environment and Health, Boon

Loredana Musmeci, Istituto Superiore di Sanità, Rome

Pier Giorgio Natali, Collegium Ramazzini

Roberta Pirastu, Sapienza Rome University

Morando Soffritti, Collegium Ramazzini, Bologna

Colin Soskolne, Universities of Alberta, Canada, and Canberra, Australia

Scientific Secretariat

Pietro Comba , Ivano Iavarone

Technical Secretariat

Cinzia Carboni, Anna Bastone

E-mail: cinzia.carboni@iss.it anna.bastone@iss.it

Tel: 06.4990.2249-06.4990.6523

Department of Environment and Primary Prevention

DA VENIAM SCRIPTIS QUORUM
NON GLORIA NOBIS CAUSA,
SED UTILITAS UFFICIUMQUE FUT

WHO Collaborating Centre for Environmental Health in Contaminated Sites

Istituto Superiore di Sanità - Collegium Ramazzini and WHO Collaborating Centre for Environmental Health in Contaminated Sites

CONTAMINATED SITES AND HEALTH: RECENT FINDINGS AND THE WAY FORWARD

Rome, ISS, October 22nd 2014; 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.

CNESPS – Rome, Via Giano della Bella, 14 - Aula Rossi 2

PROGRAMME

09.30 Registration and welcome coffee

10.00 Introductory address

Loredana Musmeci, ISS
and Massimo Crespi, Collegium Ramazzini

Chairs: Pietro Comba, ISS
and Pier Giorgio Natali, Collegium Ramazzini

10.30 The European Network on Contaminated sites and health: the way forward

Ivano Iavarone, ISS and WHO Collaborating Centre for Environmental Health in Contaminated Sites
Marco Martuzzi, WHO European Centre for Environment and Health, Boon

11.10 The use of current demographic and health data in the epidemiological study of contaminated sites in Italy

Susanna Conti, ISS

11.30 Epidemiological surveillance in Italian contaminated sites: the SENTIERI Project

Roberta Pirastu, Sapienza Rome University

11.50 Discussion

12.20 Implementation of cleanups of 5 contaminated sites to reduce health impacts in low-income countries (Lessons from Russia, Senegal, Dominican Republic, China and Nigeria)

Ian von Lindern, TerraGraphics International Foundation

12.40 The future Value of Waste: Prognosis for occupational and environmental disease in low-income countries (Lessons from Bangladesh's tannery industry)

Margrit von Brown, TerraGraphics
International Foundation and University of Idaho

13.00 Discussion

13.30 Light Lunch

14.00 Ethical aspects of studies on populations resident in contaminated sites

Colin Soskolne, Universities of Alberta, Canada, and Canberra, Australia

14.20 Children's health in contaminated sites: a global perspective

Phil Landrigan, Mount Sinai School of Medicine, New York

15.00 The contribution of the Collegium Ramazzini to health prevention in contaminated sites

Morando Soffritti, Collegium Ramazzini

15.20 Discussion

15.50 Conclusions

Pietro Comba, ISS

16.00 End of Seminar